

Qualified Project Managers. Real Project Skills.

BSB41515 Certificate IV in Project Management Practice

Construction investment is poised to form the backbone of Australia's economic recovery with heavy expenditure from all levels of government. State governments are also mandating training requirements for workforces engaged in public and public/private infrastructure projects. To improve capability of project teams as well as help meet these compliance requirements, PM Partners and Opportune are offering a Certificate IV in Project Management Practice, specifically tailored to the building and construction sector.

This qualification offers an ideal entry point into Project Management and provides a comprehensive introduction into best practice Project Management theories and methodologies aligned with the Project Management Body of Knowledge (PMBOK® Guide).

This highly practical program is designed to develop skills and confidence while equipping graduates to be an effective contributor in a project environment.

The centrepiece of this program is a live Workplace Project selected and supervised within the organisation.

Whether this is a continuous improvement, compliance or operational project, participants will apply your organisation's Project Management Methodology to plan and deliver a project. In addition to the value delivered by this project, participants graduate from the program with practical experience gained in real conditions.

Nationally recognised qualification

- » Suitable for non-project managers seeking to expand professional skills
- » Recognised by the Australian Institute of Project Management and counts towards Certified Practising Project Practitioner (CPPP) accreditation
- » Contributes to achievement of state government training mandates.
- » Develops practical skills utilising your Project Management Methodology

ABOUT THE QUALIFICATION
